ATTENTION REPUBLICANS.

A Distinguished New Yorker Coming to

Greencastle. Hear Him. To the Republicans of Putnam county:

The Hon. Warner Miller, ex-United States senator from the state of New York, will make four speeches in Indiana and we are fortunate to get one of them. He will speak in Greencastle on Friday, Sept. 25 at 1:30 p. m. Every township ought to organize to be present at that time. We hope that the committeemen will see that this meeting is specially advertised at all the meetings between now and then.

For this week we have some of the best talent in Indiana and to these meetings which are advertised in the "Republican Speakings" column of this paper, we would call your special There is nothing at all queer about attention. Every republican is not only this. Mr. Bryan, not being a pronavited but urged to work at whatever his hands find to do from now until Very respectfully, ocrat is going to use in excusing large republican victories this year it will have its hands full. There is a split in the democratic party everywhere this campaign, and we suggest that the hand bill have its excuse stereotyped. It will need it later on.

THE Arkansas democratic majority is declining, has caught the infection and has now slumped off to 45,000. This is less than 3,000 gain; a gain of about 5 per cent. Vermont's gain was nearly 100 per cent. The democratic papers should hoist another rooster.

THE Democrat of this city, which purports in its hand bill edition to run a daily, has since Saturday had an excellent opportunity to publish a piece of news but which it seems disposed to let go by the board. We refer to the free silver senator of Putnam and Hendricks counties of L. A. Stockwell of Cloverdale. Mr. Stockwell was nominated on Saturday in time for the hand bill to mention it that day but it failed; Sunday with all its silence and opportunities for reverie passed and it was thought that by Monday surely the hand bill would eatch on; but it didn't. Monday's paper let the item glide by. Now, it seems to us that a paper professing to be a newspaper should at least give the news of its party. Mr. Stockwell is now loaded down with democratic honors which the local democratic committee's hand bill refuses to recognize. Is it lack of enterprise, neighbor or is it because that in 1892 you said of Mr. Stockwell in has been greatly magnified and lied your celebrated two column roast prinetd in your paper of Sept. 17, of that year the following pleasant things:

"How to over reach, get the advantage of, and beat his fellow-man seems to have been the study of his life, and there may be found an exhibition of it in all his methods and practices.'

"He also fails to mention the fact that he had the contents of the barn insured for a large amount and that dur ing that night the building mysteriously took fire and burned to the basement, and that Mr. Stockwell presented to the insurance company a sworn list of contests, including every old hoe, price of harness, implement, bushel of grain, etc., that it contained, including one hundred and twenty tons of hay for all of which (building and contents) he received from the insurance company the large sum of $5,500 in cash."

"This political Judus."

"This political prostitute's state-

"This model of political purity."

This man is now the Democrat's candidate for joint senator! It is indeed a bitter dose of crow de mocracy is eating in order to try to deceive and hoodwink the populist party of Putnam county.

Local democrats who have their heads together are not now worrying about the result in Maine. It is Putnam county that is now worrying them. Republicans will carry Putnam sure, if they stand shoulder to shoulder and wage an unceasing warfare.

STOCKS and bonds are going up since Maine spoke. It is the beginning of the end of hard times.

The republicans of Greencastle had smiling countenances when the news from Maine came in this morning. A big majority was expected, of course, but 50,000 was a democratic nomination for joint figure that had hardly been looked for. The victory coming with that of Vermont means much. In 1892, the last presidential election the republican plurality was 11,000 now it is 41 times as much. When states increase their republican majorities over 400 per cent in the face of the most active and bitter is great. It means that the pecple want none of free silver, repudiation, attacks on the supreme court or any of the hodge podge of the Chicago popocratic platform. Along with the Maine news is the further cheering information that the Arkansas democratic majority about and that it will probably fall to about what it was in 1892, showing no gain at all. BAINBRIDGE, Sept. 11, '96 .- On last Thursday the pupils of the old Turpin Darnall school, met after a lapse day evening, when the gallant col- Alex Breckinridge in Clinton township, and with their friends held a grand reunion. There were more than two fray. The seating capacity was all hundred people present and the time was spent in speech making and talks by the scholars of the old school, music when John Townsend called the by a choir of young ladies, and at noon a splendid dinner was spread upon the table prepared for the occasion, fifty made a speech full of patriotism feet long by four feet wide. The old school house where these old boys and girls attended, was built in 1832, and ferred to the time eight years ago was located about two miles west of Union Chapel, and just south of the north Rockville road where now stands a locust grove. Then followed speeches and talks by H. C. Darnall, Chas. Newgent, Sanford Sewell, Jacob Rodgers and Leonard Ratcliff. After dinner little Nellie Nutgrass spoke an appropriate declamation prepared for the oc casion. This was followed by several other talks by the old folks, telling of their old school days, and comparing and by a number of the colored their advantages with those of the present, and altogether a most highly enoyable time seemed to be experienced by all.

The following is a list of those pres ent who attended the old school: Dr. R. P. Newgent and wife, H. C. and J. F. Darnall, Chas. Convention.

THE ISSUE AS OLEAR AS NOONDAY.

He Shows Clearly at Indianapolis That the Ills of the Country Result From Sharp Competition and That the Wage Earner and the Farmer Have Been the Least Injured.

This gathering is notice to the world that the Democratic party has not yet surrendered to Populism and anarchy. The true principles of Democracy, expounded by Jefferson and exemplified through a century of national history, are not dead because those principles have been repudiated by a convention calling itself Democratic, but controlled by undemocratic influences. Those are true Democrats who remain true to the principles of their party, and who refuse to be bound by party declarations which betray party faiths and threaten both party and country with dis-

By our presence here we emphasize the genuine character of our Democracy and demonstrate the patriotic nature of our partisanship. There have been numerous instances in political history where in the name of party loyalty men have justifled their nonsupport of party platforms or candidates, and in too many such cases has the movement failed because, when analyzed, its inspiring influence was found to be nothing higher than a desire to avenge disappointed ambitions or to overthrow a political organization.

No such sordid motive can be charged against this gathering. No Democrat here sought honors from those who framed the Chicago platform. Every Democrat here has only political humiliation to expect in the event of the success of the Chicago ticket. No Democrat honored here by being made the candidate of this convention can look forward with any reasonable hope to an election. None of us who helped to nominate him can expect to be participants in any distribution of political favors. We are here because we love the Democratic party and because we love our country.

That is the inspiration which has drawn us together and encourages our action. That is the fact which evidences our sincerity and makes our cause strong with the people. For myself I can say that for over half a century I have been unflinching in my support of Democratic principles, and I do not propose to give them up now, even if I have to bolt my party plat-form and ticket in order to maintain those principles. I have lived and worked for my party in a town and county where Democrats were so few that it was only by accident that we could elect even a constable once or twice in a decade. The chief com-plaint which my political critics have made against my acts in public life has been that I have been too much of a Democratic partisan-too devoted to the interests of my party. But in no test of partisanship have I been a better friend of the Den ocratic party than I feel I am today in joining with those who would save the party from the abyss toward which it has thrown itself.

Dear to me is this Democracy upon whose principles I was reared and for whose success I have labored in season and out. Dear to me are the teachings of those great Democrats-Jefferson, Jackson and Tilden—who, if alive today, would stand with us for party and public honor. And because I love my party and my country I

The Populist convention at Chicago did not realize that aspersions cast by them would in the future add luster to the object of their opprobrium. Long after this festering sore shall have healed and shall have passed into history as an incident as grotesque as Coxev's march to Washington, there will stand out worthily with the names of other foremost leaders of Democ racy that of the man they are now villifying, Grover Cleveland.

Chicago Platform Un-American.

The danger of the Chicago platform lies not alone nor chiefly in its declaration for a financial policy which would be ruinous. The danger lies in the revolutionary influences which controlled the convention and animated its platform. Men may justly differ as to the best scheme of national finance, and may debate their differences without recrimination or without questioning the honesty of motives. But when men, led on by ambitious politicians, party's their minds fired, not by the example of nation. American patriots, but by that of the radicals of the French revolution, overturn party precedents and pack a convention to ecure an effective majority, then by aid of that majority raise aloft the incendiary banner of the poor against the rich, attack the integrity of the supreme court, threaten the subversion of constitutional guarantees, incite disrespect to law and authority, suggest and in substance recommend the repudiation of national and private tions loses its force. Not one word has he debts and reject by intended implication the fundamental principle of Democracy that that government governs best which governs least, then it is time not only for Democrats to forsake that motley and un-American gathering, to reject that un-Democratic and un-American enunciation of doctrines, and to join, in such manner as may seem best, with all patriots who doctrine, but bimetallism can never be atcherish their country's honor and wish to protect the welfare of its people.

I mistake the moral sense of the American people if the action of the Populists at Chicago, re-enforced and emphasized by the action of the Populists at St. Louis, has not rekindled the spirit of American allism does not appear in the platform. patrioism and awakened the American The convention by an overwhelming vote conscience to the national dangers which lurk in the forces and influences behind Bryan and Sewall or Bryan and Watson. The real issue in this campaign is an issue of patriotism. In many a presidential election has the fight waged fiercely between the advocates of different political doctrines, and the ruin of the country has ed to the Philistines as to intrust the been freely predicted if either set of doctrines were established as the policy of the government, such predictions being merely the extreme expression of party politics, but in this election the issues around which the battle is waging involve the integrity of our institutions and the sacredness of our national honor, and when men have stirred that deep well of sentiment ordinary party differences disappear, the moral issue predominates, and all good citizens stand shoulder to shoulder against those who would defile the American name and undermine the walls of her political structure. Mr. Bryan takes pains to reiterate, in about every second speech, that he stands squarely on the Chicago planks. He has not yet announced his acceptance of all the planks of the Populist platform, but inasmuch as these are only different in degree, and he has been identified with Populism quite as much as with Democracy, it is but fair to assume that he son, he is nevertheless a fit representative of the revolutionary forces behind himambitious, unsteady and unsafe. There is nothing in his career or in his present utterances to encourage the hope that if elect ed he would rise above his surroundings or stay the hand which threatens to destroy and pervert.

Bryan, the Word Juggler.

An untried man, a demagogue, a word juggler, he perhaps will represent the rest-less mob from which he rose, and with characteristic recklessness does not hesitat to appeal to base human passions in orde to attract votes. That in this incendiary's role, standing, as he professes to stand, or principles as un-Democratic as those of Herr Most, he should deserve, by any conception of party regularity, the support of true Democrats is past comprehension and explainable only by ignorance of the man and his platform or disloyalty to genuin party faith. No sound conception of party regularity can justify encouragement to social disorder. Not even the honest be liever in a silver standard or the most enthusiastic bimetallist can, if he be a patriotic citizen, conscientiously support the forces of political anarchy. Even the advocacy of free silver coinage by Bryan and many of his associates is only a cloak for the spirit of revolution behind it.

Every true bimetallist must blush to have his cause dependent for success upon those who would reorganize the supreme court when its decisions do not please a party convention, who would repudiate the national debt if free silver coinage did not accomplish bimetallism, who would attempt to destroy the sanctity of private contracts, who would have the government take and operate the country's railroads and telegraphs, who would restrain the strong arm of the law from the suppression of disorder. Even if I believed that free coinage of silver by the United States independently and alone would under proper conditions restore bimetallism, I could not bring myself to intrust so delicate and important an undertaking to men of Bryan's inexperience or associations, and I would suffer forever the alleged evils of a gold standard before I would be a party to contempt for law, to an attack on our highest court, and to a subversion of our form of government by loading it down with ungovernmental functions. Before such a spectacle how would the shades of Jeffer son, Jackson and Tilden shudder and shrink While, as I have said, Mr. Bryan boldly professes to stand on every one of the strange planks of the Chicago platform, he adroitly attempts to divert Democrati attention from the revolutionary spirit which pervades most of that doc ment by confining the larger part of his public utterances to what he calls bimetallism, and he evidently hopes by magnifying the importance of this financial issue and distorting its phases so that it will appear to be the movement of the masses against the classes, to make Democrats forget their dislike of the plainly un-Dem ocratic features of the platform and to persuade them that, after all, only an eco nomic issue is involved, and this should not justify a breaking of party ties. But that kind of tactics should deceive no one.

We believe that Mr. Bryan's arguments for free silver are fallacious and demagogic, but we oppose his candidacy not chiefly because he favors free coinage, but because his advocacy of that policy is but a feature of his support of a set of doctrines which we have been taught to regard as the very opposite of Democratic, and the support of which demonstrates the unfitness of Bryan and his associates for posiam here to do what I can to shield them tions of public trust. Let not this fact esin the name of party regularity to support the Bryan ticket is an appeal to support the governmental ownership of railr and telegraphs, to attack the independence of the federal judiciary, to abolish the merit system as a test of fitness for public office, to refuse to uphold the national credit by the issue of bonds when necessary, to scale down the public debt by repudiation, to invite not only the evils which would follow a silver standard, but those which would follow irredeemable paper money, for even purely flat money seems to be recommended in this Chicag platform. The men who represent such a conglomeration of poor principles and radical notions are not Democrats.

They have no claim on Democrats, and all over the land today Democrats are rising to overthrow these party fetters, which mean slavery, and to stand between the people and the certain injury which the party's rash leaders would inflict upon the

Bryan's Assumptions.

All of Mr. Bryan's specious pleas and arguments for silver are based on the as sumption that the free coinage of silver by United States alone would establish and maintain bimetallism-the parity of gold and silver at the exchangeable ratio of 16 to 1. If that assumption is incorrect or ill founded, each of his arguments falls to the ground and every one of his predic uttered in advocacy of a silver standard. Not one word does he dare utter in behalf of a silver standard. He will declaim by the hour against the evils of gold mono metallism, and nearly everything he says on that subject is equally applicable to silver monometallism also.

Bimetallism is a genuine Democratic tained by the men who dominated the Chi cago convention or by the method implied in the Chicago platform. There is reason to doubt whether the forces which controlled that convention even desired to accomplish bimetallism. The word bimetrejected a proposition pledging the government to maintain the parity of the two metals. The disposition of the convention, as indicated by its expressions and its actions, was toward silver monometallism the ark of the covenant have been intrustcause of bimetallism to the revolutionary horde behind Bryan. It is not a difficult task to show that under present conditions free coinage of silver by the United States alone would result in silver monometallism. Foolish experiments in that direction have already caused the loss of a great part of our gold abroad, withdrawn from investment in our industries, and part has been hoarded for the day when it should bring a high premium. Our government can get none except by increasing the national debt and cents per bushel in gold. the burden of taxation. About $100,000,-000 in gold is in the United States treasplatform and supports every one of its 346,000,000 of greenbacks, which was its withstanding.

original function, but the $625,000,000 of silver currency which has been issued since. That frail foundation has been trembling since 1890 with the additional weight put upon it. Only by heroic means has the government been able to prop up the stands on both platforms. Not quite so immense superstructure. But even the His Speech at the Sound Money radical in his views, perhaps, as Altgeld or Tillman, not quite so frank as Tom Watdation disappear as in it a quicksand, and you and I and every man who has property or wages would find their value changed from a gold to a silver measure. This would be the certain result of imposing such an additional burden upon the government, but when with that in view we consider the disposition of foreign governments to strengthen their gold reserves and the suspension of free silver coinage in India, which has heretofore been the world's sink for all its surplus silver, but is so no longer, the conclusion is inevitable that we would be reduced to silver basis, and to a very cheap silver hasis at that

Such a change of standards, such readjustment of values, not only in the fear which they would excite, but in the actual injury and injustice they would produce, would be the greatest commercial and industrial evil imaginable, would mean, in the first place, the with drawal of hundreds of millions of foreign capital invested in our industries.

Uses For Foreign Gold.

Sneer as Mr. Bryan may at our dependence upon foreign gold, the bare fact remains that without it the building of our great railroads, the opening of our great farm areas, the development of our mines the building up of our industries-with all the stimulus to prosperity which these have given—would have been delayed many years. Foreign gold-to Mr. Bryan's distorted vision and demagogic mind, a species of yellow fever-what is it but capital which gives work and wages to our citizens, adds to the product of our factories, makes necessities out of the former luxuries of life, increases the comforts and conveniences of living, adds to our country's wealth and prosperity, until finally we will be rich enough and prosperous enough to send part of our capital to other less fortunate or advanced nations and perform the same good mission, selfish though it be, for other people? Who would reject it because it comes, as some of it probably does, from the drones of Europe? To what better use can the accumulated wealth of England's aristocracy be put than to build up American industries?

The withdrawal of European capital would still forther depress values and encourage panic. So large a proportion of our business is done on credit, and credit is such a slender support, that when credit is attacked, it matters not how much monev there may be in the country, it will avail nothing to prevent the contraction of loans and the refusal of accommodation. These mean business failures—losses, sac rifices of prices, diminished demand for commodities, closing mills, lack of employment, poverty and distress. Against the progress of this certain series of events no man nor measure can stand. No kind of relief is efficacious except the conviction of the people that the money which measures the exchangeable value of their commodities and services and underlies the structure of their system of credit is sound and stable and will remain so.

Bryan a Quack Doctor.

his misery and the remonetization of silver as his remedy. By reason of perfectly simple causes the prices of wheat and corn and other agricultural products have declined, but this decline is attributed by these political quacks to the demonetiza tion of silver, and the farmer, along with every other man who finds it hard to make both ends meet, is told that by remonetizing silver wheat will go to $1 a bush and other farm products will rise proportionately. If this were true, rising prices would affect the commodities which a farmer buys, the interest he pays on his debts, the freight rates which determine the cost of getting his products to market, and he would be relatively no better off than before. To expect the farmer to accept so great a delusion is to presume upon his intelligence. Ask the farmers of my state why they are giving up the pro duction of wheat and corn, and they will not tell you it is because of the deprecia tion of silver. They will point to these great western prairies and tell you they cannot compete with these in the growth of the staple cereals. And they have taken to raising other crops which are more profitable and less competitive. The same tendency is manifest throughout the agricultural world. Not only have thousands of acres of western lands in America been thrown open to cultivation within recent years, but in Russia, India and the Argentine Republic railroads and enterprise have brought large additional acreage under cultivation and poured millions of additional bushels upon the markets of the world. The same cheapening in the cost of boots and shoes, of hats and coats and other clothing, which has followed excessive production in the manufacture of those articles, has been manifest in the excessive production of agricultural prod-It is the old familiar law of supply and demand. In my state of New York hay is selling at $15 per ton; last year it was $10 per ton. Do our silver friends attribute that to the demonetization of silver? They ought to if they wish to be consistent. Silver dollars in the pockets of the mine owners are of no benefit to western farmers. What they want is prosperous conditions which will put silver dollars in their own pockets, dollars which, when taken out, will buy just as much as gold dollars.

Decline of Prices General.

However much the prices of agricultur-products have declined they have not declined more rapidly than the necessities which the farmer buys, nor so rapidly as the freight rates which promote the market for his products. The report of the national board of trade shows that the average charge for carrying a ton of freight one mile on 13 of the most important railor irredeemable fiat money. As well might roads of the United States has fallen from 3.08 cents in 1865 and 1.81 cents in 1870 .76 cents in 1893. You will thus see that in 1865 it cost $30 to transfer one ton 1,000 miles and only $7.50 in 1893.

In 1872, according to government reports, the price of transporting one bushel of wheat from Chicago to New York by lake and canal was 24 47-100 cents; by lake and rail, 28 cents; by all rail, 331/2 cents. In 1895, by lake and canal, 4 11-100 from circulation. Part of it has gone cents; by lake and rail, 6 95-100 cents; by all rail, 19 17-100 cents.

No such proportionate reduction has en seen in the price of wheat or corn. The average price of wheat in 1870 was 80 Today it is 56 cents—a reduction since 1870 scarcely half as great as the reduction of freight ratesury to support the parity, not alone of the Mr. Bryan's assertions to the contrary not-

The Atlantic cable has produced the same result as regards the rate of interest on money that the opening of new lands, the extension of transportation facilities and excessive production have produced in the prices of wheat and corn. money supply of the world and brings it #### to our service Gold Brings Cheaper Interest.

So long as we pay our debts in the kind of money we borrow, the rate of interest will continue to cheapen for the farmer, merchant, manufacturer and miner, and for those engaged in any other industry in this country.

Our silver friends claim that the gold dollar has gone up to 200, while the silver has neither gone up nor down.

I answer that in 1873 the government rate of interest was 6 per cent. The rate in any of the western cities was from 1 to 2 per cent per month, and money was hard to get at that. By this same Atlantic cable, reaching to money in England, Germany and Holland, the rate of interest on our government bonds has been reduced to from 3 to 31/2 per cent, and the rate of interest in western cities does not now exceed from 6 to 8 per cent per annum, and good mortgages have been made in Chicago at 5 per cent. The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad, the Burlington and Quincy, the Pennsylvania, all had bonds 25 years ago bearing from 7 to 10 per cent interest per annum. Who paid that interest? farmer when he paid his freight. The rate of interest today, with these bonds placed in London and in Europe, is on an average 4 per cent per annum, so that the man who had gold to loan in this country or in Europe in 1873 could get nearly double the rate of interest per annum that he can get today. Is not the value of the gold dollar regulated by the price that you can get per annum for it? If this is the case, then the price of the gold dollar is not 200, as our silver friends claim, but has been reduced by one-half, because it will only bring to the owner about one-half of what it did 25 years ago. There is a natural reason for this reduction in the price of Why, last year the world produced gold. over $200,000,000 of gold, nearly one-fourth of which was produced in the United States, and the production is steadily increasing year by year. Now this $200,000, 000 amounts to $27,000,000 more than all the gold and silver produced in the world in 1873.

The rate of interest in every country where they have a solid and fixed standard No. 44,+ Local Freight. is nearly half of the rate prevailing in any silver country. A good illustration is found in the adjoining states British Guiana and Venezuela. In British Guiana. where the standard is gold, the rate of interest is from 4 to 6 per cent per annum, while in Venezuela, a silver country, the rate is from 10 to 12 per cent, and this will follow in every silver country. The reason is plain. When you loan money under a fixed standard and agree to pay un-der the same standard, the lender can afford to loan his money at a cheaper rate Trains leave Greeneasile, Ind. in than when he loans it in a currency that may depreciate before the return of his money

A silver standard would work particular injury to wage earners. The rich and well to do can usually take care of themselves, but the man who has a vital interest in every day's wages, whose family de-pends upon those wages for its bread and One characteristic of political remedies administered and recommended by quack political doctors is that they are alleged to political doctors is that they are alleged to would he for one year, or two years, or perhaps many years, feel the effect of the perhaps many years, feel the prostration of industry and business which would at least be the first result of a change to the silver standard, but when the silver standard, but when J.S. that wore away, as it probably would in the course of time, and the full effects of an inflation of the currency under unlimited silver coinage began to be manifested, ing, of rents rising, but his wages would remain stationary, for it is an economic fact that in an era of mishes with the state of the g prices are the last to feel the influence. So long as steady work is assured the laborer is much better off under the condition of falling prices such as we have had for many years, as the cost of production of commodities has been decreased by new inventions and improved methods of manufacture, for the necessities of life and even its luxuries have become cheaper, while by reason of various influences wages have risen.

Harmful to Railroad Men.

There are some classes of employees who would be especially affected by a silver standard. I refer particularly to the 800,000 men who get their wages from steam and street surface railroads. Most of the money invested in these enterprises is represented in bonds whose principal and interest are payable in gold. The annual payments required by these obligations of indebtedness are hundreds of millions of dollars. If gold goes to a premium, the holders of these bonds insist that their terms shall be fulfilled, and the interest be payable in gold, it means that the railroads have got to raise that amount of gold or the mortgages will be foreclosed and the properties sold. Every railroad employee knows what that means-a cutting down of expenses, disorganization, uncertain employment. If the companies have to pay 100 cents premium on gold to satisfy their interest demands, it means doubling their fixed charges, and this in the case of nine railroads out of ten means bankruptcy. They cannot increase their rate of fares, for that the legislatures will not permit. They cannot exact payment of fares in gold. Therefore they must repudiate their obligations or cut down wages - they certainly cannot increase Whichever horn of the dilemma wages. they choose therefore-a repudiation of obligation or a reduction of wages -the employee is no gainer, for even were there no reduction of wages under the free coinage of 50 cent dollars he ought to receive twice as much wages as he did before in order to put him on an equality with previous conditions. The purchasing power of his wages, if the rate remained the same, would be cut down one-half. Against such threatened calamities we have met as Democrats and as patriots to apolis at 6 p. m., on above protest. Our purpose is too serious to permit differences on minor matters or personal jealousies to divide our councils or weaken our influence. We have come here as Democrats to exert such influence as we may have among Democrats for the good of our country and the preservation of our party organization for other periods

Let no man say that in this convention any false note of Democracy was sounded. We stand for all that should inspire good citizenship-for honest money, enforcement of law and order, respect for authority, the preservation of the national credit, the just payment of debts, the dignity and welfare of labor, the prosperity and fair name of America. United in such a cause we can go forward with the American flag as our banner and the words "National Democrats" inscribed on its folds. We know no sectional issue or interest. stand behind the broad shield of patriotism, and in that sign we shall conquer.
